Dear Colleagues,

UKNSCN INTERIM BULLETIN - FUNDED PLACES AVAILABLE FOR ESCs RESIDENTIAL COURSE, BRAZIL, 6-21 FEBRUARY 2009

There are up to 5 places available for UK participants at a residential course titled Embryonic Stem Cells as a Model System for Mammalian Development which is being held in Sao Paulo, Brazil from 6-21 February 2009. The organisers will provide funding for both travel and hotel accommodation to any UK participants who are selected through the application process. The attached flyer provides further details on the course and the on-line application process, which is open to any UK-based PhD student, post-doctoral researcher or young Principal Investigator who wishes to learn more about ES cells. Alternatively, you can view the website of the Latin American Stem Cell Network at the link below. The closing date for applications is fast-approaching: 1st December 2008.
