Dear Colleagues,

UKNSCN INTERIM BULLETIN - THREE IMMINENT UK EVENTS

[1] SCOTTISH STEM CELL BIOLOGY GROUP MEETING, DUNDEE, SCOTLAND, 9TH NOVEMBER

Sponsored by the Scottish Stem Cell Network (SSCN), the next meeting of the SSCN's Stem Cell Biology Group will take place at the University of Dundee in Scotland on 9th November 2009 and is titled Approaches to Directed Stem Cell Differentiation and Disease Models. The meeting programme includes two overseas speakers: Knut Woltjen from the Mount Sinai Hospital in Toronto, Canada and Henrik Semb from the Lund Stem Cell Centre in Sweden. Please be aware that this meeting has sold out and that SSCN is now operating a cancellation list. Further details are available from Jenna Chambers at jenna@sscn.co.uk.

[2] 4TH ANNUAL UK CANCER STEM CELLS SYMPOSIUM, LONDON, UK, 12TH NOVEMBER

The fourth annual UK Cancer Stem Cells Symposium will take place in London at Barts and The London School of Medicine and Dentistry on 12 November 2009. The programme includes guest speakers from overseas who will discuss on-going developments in stem cell biology related to cancer. The meeting will provide comprehensive updates on a range of cancer stem cell topics, report recent research, and provide opportunities to network with colleagues who have active research interests in stem cells and cancer. Registration is open to all via the link below (fees apply), though there are only 40 places remaining at the time of writing.
